

Dan Dearborn, CPA

Chief Financial Officer

Dan is a CPA who has spent his entire career working with healthcare companies, including over nine years of SEC reporting experience. After graduating from Loyola University in Maryland, he began with Ernst and Young in Baltimore. From there he quickly moved into Accounting management roles. He spent fifteen years at Pharmerica, a long-term pharmaceutical company that quickly grew with large acquisitions and eventually went public. Later, he joined as Controller of BioDelivery Sciences, a public company that brought several innovative pharmaceutical products to market. More recently, he was CFO for Welldyne, a mid-size PBM (Pharmacy Benefit Manager) in Lakeland, Florida. Dan played a key role with the sale of Welldyne to Carlyle, one of the largest Private Equity companies. After the Welldyne transaction, Dan became CFO of MYMD Pharmaceuticals, an innovative early-stage Research and Development company.
